

Illustrations and Story Details

Today's Standard

1.RL.7 - Use illustrations and details in a story to describe its characters, setting, or events.

Cues	Notes
What are characters?	Characters are the people or animals in a story.
What is a setting?	The setting is where and when the story takes place.
How do illustrations help in a story?	Illustrations can show what characters look like and where the story happens.
Why are details important?	Details help us understand more about the characters, setting, and events.
Can illustrations tell a story?	Yes, illustrations can provide key details that the text might not mention.

Summary

Understanding how illustrations and details in a story help describe characters, setting, and events is crucial for story comprehension. This standard teaches students to use both visual and textual information to gain a fuller understanding of the story.