Using Technology in Writing

Today's Standard

6.W.6 - Use technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writing as well as to interact and collaborate with others; demonstrate sufficient command of keyboarding skills to type a minimum of three pages in a single sitting.

Cues	Notes
What is the main goal of standard 6.W.6?	The main goal is to use technology to produce, publish, and collaborate on writing.
How can technology enhance writing?	Technology can enhance writing by providing tools for drafting, editing, formatting, and collaboration.
What are common misconceptions about this standard?	Common misconceptions include thinking it's only about typing speed and that online collaboration is less effective.
What skills should students have before learning this standard?	Students should have basic typing skills and familiarity with word processing software.
What will students learn after mastering this standard?	Students will be able to produce longer written works, collaborate effectively, and be prepared for digital communication tasks.

Summary

Standard 6.W.6 focuses on using technology to enhance writing, including producing, publishing, and collaborating on written works. It involves more than just typing speed, emphasizing the use of digital tools for various writing tasks.