

Writing Process and Revision

Today's Standard

9-10.W.5 - Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach, focusing on addressing what is most significant for a specific purpose and audience. (Editing for conventions should demonstrate command of Language standards 1-3 up to and including grades 9-10 here.)

Cues	Notes
What is the writing process?	The writing process includes planning, drafting, revising, editing, and rewriting.
What is revising?	Revising involves improving the content and structure of the writing.
What is editing?	Editing focuses on correcting grammar, punctuation, and spelling errors.
Why is planning important?	Planning helps organize ideas and ensures the writing has a clear purpose.
How does audience affect writing?	Understanding the audience helps tailor the writing to meet their needs and expectations.

Summary

The writing process is a multi-step approach that includes planning, drafting, revising, editing, and rewriting. Each step is crucial for creating effective and polished writing.