

Using Pronouns Correctly

Today's Standard

1.L.1d - Use personal, possessive, and indefinite pronouns (e.g., I, me, my; they, them, their, anyone, everything).

Real-World Applications for this Standard

Writing simple sentences using personal pronouns.; Identifying pronouns in a short story.; Replacing nouns with pronouns in sentences.; Using possessive pronouns to show ownership in writing.; Using indefinite pronouns in everyday conversations.

Today I Learned

Today, I learned about pronouns. Pronouns are words that take the place of nouns. We use personal pronouns like 'I' and 'they', possessive pronouns like 'my' and 'their', and indefinite pronouns like 'anyone' and 'everything'.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes, kids mix up possessive pronouns with contractions, like 'their' and 'they're'. Another common mistake is using too many indefinite pronouns, which can make sentences unclear.

- Can you use 'their' in a sentence?
- What is an indefinite pronoun?

Help Me

Pronouns are words that help us talk about people and things without repeating their names. For example, instead of saying 'John's book', we can say 'his book'. This makes our sentences shorter and easier to understand.
