

Capitalization Rules for Special Names

Today's Standard

2.L.2a - Capitalize holidays, product names, and geographic names.

Real-World Applications for this Standard

Writing holiday cards; Creating a shopping list with product names; Labeling places on a map; Writing a story with specific locations; Making a travel brochure; Composing a letter mentioning holidays

Today I Learned

Today I learned about capitalizing special names like holidays, product names, and places. This helps make my writing clear and correct.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes kids forget to capitalize special names, or they might capitalize words that shouldn't be capitalized. It's important to know the difference.

Quiz Me

- What is the capital letter rule for holidays?
- Can you name a product that needs a capital letter?
- What is a geographic name?
- Why do we capitalize product names?
- Can you give an example of a holiday that needs a capital letter?

Help Me

We capitalize special names like holidays, product names, and places to show they are important. For example, 'Christmas' is a holiday, 'Lego' is a product name, and 'New York' is a place. This helps us write clearly.