

Subject-Verb and Pronoun-Antecedent Agreement

Today's Standard

3.L.1f - Ensure subject-verb and pronoun-antecedent agreement.*

Real-World Applications for this Standard

Writing clear sentences in essays and stories.; Correctly using pronouns in conversation.; Editing written work for grammatical accuracy.; Understanding instructions and questions in tests.

Today I Learned

Today, we learned about making sure the subject and verb in a sentence agree, and that pronouns match the nouns they replace. This helps us write clear and correct sentences.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes, kids think the verb should match the closest noun, not the subject. They might also forget that pronouns need to match the nouns they replace in number and gender.

Quiz Me

- What should the verb match in a sentence?
- What should a pronoun match?
- Why is it important for subjects and verbs to agree?
- Why should pronouns match their nouns?
- Can you give an example of a correct sentence?

Help Me

When you write, make sure the action word (verb) matches who or what is doing the action (subject). Also, make sure words like 'he' or 'she' match the person or thing they are talking about. This helps everyone understand your sentences better!