

Conjunctions in Sentences

Today's Standard

3.L.1h - Use coordinating and subordinating conjunctions.

Real-World Applications for this Standard

Writing a story with complex sentences.; Combining sentences in a research project.; Creating compound sentences in daily journaling.

Today I Learned

Today, I learned about conjunctions! Conjunctions like 'and' and 'because' help connect ideas in sentences.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes, kids think all conjunctions are the same or can only be used at the start of sentences. But, 'and' and 'because' are used differently, and they can be in the middle of sentences too!

Quiz Me

- What is a conjunction?
- Can you name a coordinating conjunction?
- What is a subordinating conjunction?
- Can 'and' start a sentence?
- Give an example of a sentence with 'because'.

Help Me

Conjunctions help us connect ideas. For example, 'and' can join two things, like 'I like apples and oranges.' 'Because' can explain why, like 'I stayed inside because it was raining.'