Today I Learned

Today, we learned about keeping our writing the same throughout. This means making sure it sounds the same from start to finish.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes, kids think that style and tone are the same, but they're not. Style is how you write, and tone is how you feel about what you're writing. Another mistake is using the same words too much. It's better to use different words that mean the same thing.

Help Me

Keeping your writing the same makes it easier to understand. For example, if you're writing a story that's supposed to be funny, keep it funny all the way through. If you're writing to a teacher, use a serious tone all the way through. This helps people understand your writing better.
