

Comparing Reading and Viewing

Today's Standard

6.RL.7 - Compare and contrast the experience of reading a story, drama, or poem to listening to or viewing an audio, video, or live version of the text, including contrasting what they 'see' and 'hear' when reading the text to what they perceive when they listen or watch.

Real-World Applications for this Standard

Watch a movie adaptation of a book and discuss differences.; Listen to an audiobook and compare it to reading the text.; Attend a live play of a story read in class and note differences.; Compare a poem read aloud to reading it silently.

Today I Learned

Today, we learned how to compare reading a story to watching or listening to it. We talked about what we see and hear differently in each way.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes, kids think the story is the same no matter how they experience it. They might also think watching or listening is always more fun than reading.

Quiz Me

- What is one thing you see when you read a story?
- What is one thing you hear when you listen to a story?
- How is watching a movie different from reading a book?
- Can a story be different when you hear it instead of reading it?
- Why is it important to compare different ways of experiencing a story?

Help Me

When we read a story, we use our imagination to see and hear things. Watching a movie or listening to a story can show us different things. Comparing them helps us understand stories better and see new ideas.
