

Phonemic Awareness and Letter Writing

Today's Standard

K.L.2c - Write a letter or letters for most consonant and short-vowel sounds (phonemes).

Real-World Applications for this Standard

Writing their name using correct letters for sounds.; Labeling objects in the classroom with corresponding letters.; Creating simple words in a journal.; Playing letter-sound matching games.; Writing letters to friends and family.

Today I Learned

Today, we learned about writing letters for consonant and short-vowel sounds. This helps us understand how to read and write words.

Common Stumbling Blocks

Sometimes, kids might think each letter has just one sound, which isn't true. Or, they might mix up letters that sound alike, like 'b' and 'd'.

Quiz Me

- What sound does the letter 'b' make?
- Can you find something that starts with the letter 's'?
- What is the first letter in the word 'cat'?
- How do you write the letter 'd'?
- Can you say the sound for the letter 'a'?

Help Me

We are learning to write letters for the sounds we hear in words. This helps us read and write better. For example, when we hear 'b' in 'bat', we write the letter 'b'.
